

greenRclean™

"Lennox Institute GUARANTEES that implementation of the greenRclean™ program WILL result in measurable improvements in the work environment".

A leading and industry recognised training program greenRclean™ is designed to assist organisations in demonstrating their commitment to protecting staff, customers, partners and the environment.

In collaboration with industry specialist, Bridget Gardner from Fresh Green Clean, Lennox has developed greenRclean™, a program that can be applied seamlessly to current work environments.

Lennox has recently been successful in accessing some government funding and will be working with a group of employers to implement the program by the end of 2010. Are you interested in taking part?

greenRclean™ (Cleaning)
Participate in environmentally sustainable work practices 4 hr session

greenRclean™ (Management)
Implement and monitor environmentally sustainable work practices 5 hour session

greenRclean™ (Development)
Develop workplace policy and procedures for sustainability
Full day session

The program covers specific training to increase knowledge and awareness of employees at all levels.

Cleaning delivers foundation training and is a requirement for all levels of staff and management to ensure a clear understanding of the greenRclean™ process throughout the organization.

The greenRclean™ concept is built on 3 key areas of importance for the cleaning industry. Detailed information is provided in the areas of safety, sustainability and the effectiveness of green cleaning.

Improved techniques and skills are taught to ensure that green cleaning is effective and myths are 'busted'.

Some of the topics covered are: how to really read an MSDS, understanding exposure, labeling legislation, how harmful 'non hazardous' can actually be, chemicals of concern and why we should be reducing use of these, alternative methods and products, understanding the PH of dirt and cleaning materials and how this can work for you, correct and effective use and maintenance of microfibre and correct cleaning of microfibre cloths and equipment.

greenRclean™ training ensures that hygiene levels and cleanliness are not compromised. An extensive system including audit tools and checklists are provided to assist and monitor implementation in the worksites as part of the training course.

Cleaners are taught how to rate their own worksites and products and provide feedback to management. Challenges are provided for each worksite in the three areas -SAFE,SUSTAINABLE, EFFECTIVE.

greenRclean™

Management provides Managers with the tools to support the cleaning staff in their efforts and provide ongoing feedback on improvements to the staff and their clients.

The training provides Managers with additional knowledge on regulations, standards and compliance and how to implement a greenRclean™ program in their areas of responsibility. A complete system including extensive measurement tools are provided with suggestions on how to motivate staff and involve clients and customers.

Development Course Lennox Institute also facilitates a 'green clean' development course for Key Decision Makers at a senior management level. This is delivered through a consultative workshop session where the trainer assists and facilitates the development of Green Clean Policies and Procedure or updating of current Policies and Procedures and makes recommendations for successful implementation.

The Lennox greenRclean™ audit is basic assessment at a worksite of your choice. A report will be provided which will rate your site in the areas of Safety, Sustainability and Effectiveness. This can be used as a measurement tool before and after training and as an ongoing reporting document for you and your client. More in depth audits and tools will also be discussed in the training sessions.

All Students will receive a statement of attainment and each site implementing the greenRclean™ program will receive a greenRclean™ site certificate
