Certificate IV in Asset Maintenance (Cleaning Management)

Leading employers recognise the importance of the key roles their supervisors and managers play in their organisations and the necessity for a formal training program.

Lennox Institute is proud to offer this nationally recognised course for supervisors and managers. In consultation with employers and industry associations in the cleaning industry, Lennox has imported relevant units from frontline management and the business services training packages and customised a unique program for the cleaning industry.

The content, assignments and delivery are tailored to train front line staff with the skills required for today's worksites.

All aspects of safety and responsibilities necessary for the management of sites and staff are covered.

Training delivery

There are a number of flexible training delivery options available to you. The course is usually delivered in a series of full day Management Workshops either at your worksite, Lennox Institute training room or a suitable venue. A range of workplace based projects form part of the process.
